

Suicide at Work

Do you know how to manage incidents + support Staff?

Don't think this won't happen to your staff!

They could witness a suicide, discover a body, be traumatised by hearing gruesome details, or lose a work colleague or loved one to suicide. This has happened in motels, insurance companies, retirement villages, FIFO sites, community services and many more organisations.

This training is ideal for managers, business owners, HR, WHS, EAP, psychologists, counsellors, GPs + anyone required to manage critical incidents, or support staff or clients.

Learn:

- * How staff could be affected
- * Crucial issues you need to manage
- * Immediate, short + long term Actions

Participants also receive: * Templates

- * List of referral/support services
- * Training Notes

Over 2,800
Australians die by suicide
each year... ¼ million people are affected by these deaths.

This training is unique!

Cheryl Staal (the trainer) has extensive experience in supporting people exposed to suicide + providing guidance for organisations to best manage the impact of suicide at work. She presented about this at the 5th World Congress on Mental Health + Wellbeing and 19th International ANZUS conference.

The training is best practice + in line with the Australian Government's 5th National Mental Health + Suicide Prevention Plan.
